INSTRUCTIONS TO AUTHORS

Companion Animal Practice welcomes material dealing with all aspects of medical, surgical and nutritional care of companion animals for publication. Manuscripts submitted for consideration should be presented for exclusive publication in Companion Animal Practice and will be acknowledged promptly by the journal. Material is submitted subject to review by the Editor-In-Chief and the consultant in the specialty subject area appropriate to to the topic being presented. Additional reviewers in special areas of interest may be asked to review and comment upon material for publication. All manuscripts are submitted subject to publisher's acceptance.

Case reports, practice suggestions and inquiries from practitioners are welcome and practitioners are encouraged to submit material for publication which they feel would be of value to their colleagues. For further specific details, request the journal's "Guidelines for Authors." The journal exercises reasonable care of manuscripts submitted; however, it cannot be responsible for unsolicited material. Neither VPPC nor the editor of this publication accepts any responsibility for the accuracy of statements or opinions expressed in articles by contributors, or for omissions from such articles. Reprints of articles published are available. Prices and production specifications are available on request.
